Association Helpful to Square Dance Clubs

A DANCER tells me his association has outgrown its usefulness and wonders what now? He said they needed the association when it was formed but now it seems to have no purpose. Not only that but the association has booked dances over and over again on his club night.

I told him, friend, you need a square dance association more now than you ever did, but one that represents the clubs as well as the dancers. You may have outgrown the structure of your present association not the association itself.

To be successful a square dance organization must keep up to date as well as furnish services for the area and do it better, easier and more efficiently than an individual club. The more dances and clubs in an area the greater the need for the organization. And an association promoting area wide presents a better image of square dancing than a one club promotion. If the organization did nothing more than end conflict of dates, it would be worthwhile. The only club or dancer that does not need an association is a one square, one club, one caller, who does not visit or want visitors.

Some areas are changing to a Federation of Clubs. By joining, you place a delegate on the board to represent your club. Then it would be you planning the square dance activities in the area, not some individual that may not even know that your club exists or if does is not interested in it.

Your delegate is in a better position to know the views of your club and dancers than anyone else. Let's consider what a wide awake, active square dance association could do. It could get more publicity, easier than an individual club. It is in a better position to promote jamboree type dances, with all the clubs and callers participating.

The association could seek sponsorship for classes and dances from church and civic organizations who are looking for this type of activity.

There is a definite need for dedicated, intellectual, knowledgeable area wide leadership. It would stagger the imagination, the good that could be done, if the brains from all the clubs, would work together, for the promotion of square dance association. We have not scratched the surface in our square dance potential, so let us scrap the horse and buggy equipment and retool for the atomic age.

—Frank Cornwall

July is Busy Month For Dancers

Two BIG WEEK ENDS will give dancers a chance to swing into July!

First is the Ocean Waves' Firecracker Festival July 2, 3, and 4 at Miami Beach. Square dance enthusiasts from Florida and at least twelve other states will meet at the Fontainebleau Hotel.

Lakeland's air conditioned civic center is the setting for the Third Citrusland Square-Up, also taking place July 2, 3 and 4. Ruy Camp, Roger Chapman, Harry Lackey will be calling, with Ed and Kay Mack and John and Betty Jones on rounds.

Dancers will be do-sa-do-ing and promenading July 7 in Jacksonville when Max Forsyth calls at the Friendly Frolics Dance. The event is taking place at the air conditioned Jewish Center Auditorium.

Central Florida folks will just have time to recover from the Fourth of July when they meet July 10 at the Municipal Auditorium in Orlando for the Third Annual Vacation Roundup. Sponsored by the Orlando Western Square Dance Council, the roundup features caller Singin' Sam Mitchell.

Before too long, the Florida Gators will be promenading around the new air conditioned Wagon Wheel Square Dance center in Plant City. On July 16 they will use the new center for the first time. The Wagon Wheel promises to be a favorite with West Coast dancers, and is located at 1701 West Reynolds Street.

Santa is coming to Miami July 24, invited by the Westernaires of Miami. The Westernaires are planning a "Christmas in July" dance, complete with grab bag.

July will be a busy month for Jim Galloway, Bill Muench, Ed Mack and their taws. They will be making plans for the Knothead Konvention September 4, 5 and 6. Advanced reservations are being accepted during July and the early part of August.

Pensacola dancers aren't resting up after their busy schedule in June. They're planning a special dance with Johnny Wykoff, at the air conditioned Bayview Community Center July 27.

Winding up the month in a big way, Palatka dancers are having a

Tampa Convention Sets New Heights in Publicity for Area; Full Program Draws More Than 2000 Admissions

FCA President Ed Newton checks the equipment as Joe Johnson extends mike to caller with record in hand, on stage at Curtis Hixon Convention Hall in Tampa. • Round dancers formed a pretty pattern on the floor of the convention hall. • Front entrance of convention hall makes impressive night picture. • General Chairman Matt Bryan in front row at conclusion of grand march for Saturday night dance.

WHEN THE CURTAIN rang down on the twelfth annual Florida Square Dance Convention in Tampa June 19, it was generally agreed it had set new marks for future conventions to shoot at.

Coverage by the city's two television stations was virtually daily throughout convention week, and in the estimation of Matt Bryan, convention general chairman, would total more than 60 minutes. In addition, Channel 8 spent all day Friday preparing kinescopes for a documentary presentation some time in the future.

The Tampa Daily Times on the afternoon of the opening day of the convention had a page-dominating feature story with illustrations, and the Tampa Tribune on Sunday carried feature material. Bryan said that if the convention was a complete flop otherwise, the publicity throughout the west coast area would have made the effort worth while.

But it was no flop! The Curtis Hixon Hall was probably the largest state square dancing convention, and Bryan's insistence on a full schedule in some five different halls made the published program by far the most ambitious ever attempted at state level.

Bryan told the Saturday night audience that total attendance would exceed 2000, later told federation directors there would be in excess of 1600 dancer registrations.

At the Saturday night dance, words of welcome from officials of the City of Tampa were heard. Bryan presented his committee chairmen, and officers of the Florida Callers Association, dancers' federation, and Round Dance Council of Florida were formally presented.

Orlando's official invitation for the 1966 convention was presented by Al Cody in behalf of organized square dancers in Orlando and Central Florida, while dancers carried picket signs and distributed handbills throughout the audience.

Bryan told Bow & Swing he could not have asked for greater cooperation and helpfulness than he got from Ed and Kit Newton for the callers and was warm in his praise for the support given by Frank Cornwall and the Florida Federation.

Round Dance Council members programmed all rounds for the main convention sessions, and ran a full program of workshops for round dancers. If participation is an index of success, the round dancers took comfort in the fact that on Saturday morning they had as many people in their session as all of the other halls put together.

Bryan Commends Committee Members Who Made Convention Successful

CONVENTION CHAIRMAN Matt Bryan had words of praise for those who performed the awesome task of planning Florida's 12th Annual Square and Round Dance Convention.

"It takes close cooperation, good communication, and hard work to make a real success of these conventions," commented Bryan. "We certainly had this cooperation from all concerned. Callers, Round Dance Council members, state federation officers and dancers from all over the state devoted a great deal of their time."

Bryan paid tribute to Hink and Marion Smith for their contributions as committee co-chairmen.

"The convention owes these folks a lot," Bryan continued, commending the work of Jo Tejera, committee secretary; Ruth and Lee Frost, registration chairmen; Cliff and Jean Crank, reservation chairmen; Troy and Lisle Harre, co-ordinators of registration and reservation; Don and Mary Nash, convention treasurers; and Ona and Ira Bivens, committee members.

Cited for their work in providing newspaper, television, and radio coverage for the event were publicity chairmen Tom and Kathryn Morris.

"Compliments should go to Ed and Kit Newton and all the Florida Callers Association committee and to Russ and Mabel Ayrton and the Round Dance Council," said Bryan.

"Appreciation should be shown to Frank Cornwall and the officers of the federation.

"Credit for the success of the convention goes to all of these people," Bryan concluded.

Curtains were parted to provide greater air conditioning for the Friday night dance in Tampa's fabulous new convention hall; next night entire area was full of dancers.

North Central Area Association is Encouraged by Dancers' Federation

A PROPOSAL to organize a dancers' association in North Central Florida was warmly received at the mid-summer meeting of the Florida Federation of Square Dancers, and Barry Aronovitz of Tallahassee is expected to come back to the federation with concrete plans, possibly at the next meeting of the federation to be held in Clearwater Sunday morning, Sept. 5. The dancers tentatively allocated the territory west of the Suwannee River with the exception of the area served by the Pensacola Square Dance Council.

Aronovitz also asked permission to present to Governor Burns a request for a proclamation setting the first full week in October as Florida Square Dance Week. This was approved by the federation on the basis it would serve to provide a publicity peg for fall recruiting.

President Frank Cornwell profusely thanked Matt Bryan for "one wonderful convention." Bryan spoke of the spirit of cooperation and commended the callers. "Even the policemen and nurse at the hall were so well impressed that they are signing up for square dance classes," Bryan said.

Tentative financial report, he said, indicated about $1200 in profits would be distributed; a complete report will be mailed to the federation before the October meeting. Bryan was particularly proud of the excellent coverage by TV and press and it was voted that the federation express its appreciation to the media for their support.

Bill Fleshman of Jacksonville reported briefly on the work of the charter revision committee, promised to have a complete report at the Clearwater session.

The federation's annual election meeting will be held 2 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 23, in Orlando, at a place to be provided by Mrs. Mary McDonald of the Orlando Recreation Department.

Contracts for the 1966 convention in Orlando were approved, after remarks from Mrs. McDonald and Mrs. Doris Shuler of the Robert Meyer Motor Hotel.

Bill Tuszyński of Tampa, liaison for the Round Dance Council of Florida, commended the federation on its leadership in preparing the dancers directory which is being distributed at state welcome stations.

"This is going to give square dancing Florida much more publicity than you think," he said, adding that Marshall Flippo and Frankie Lane are distributing them all over the country and urging local organizations to do the same thing.

"We are passing over our period of growing pains," Tuszyński said. "Square dancing is being recognized throughout the state for what it is. Well done!"

Les Gotcher to Direct Workshop For Callers Ass'n

LES GOTCHER, nationally known caller and publisher, will conduct the 1965 Florida Callers Association workshop sessions in connection with the association's annual meeting in the Parliament House Motel in Orlando, October 22 and 23, members of the association were told at their midsummer meeting in Tampa June 19.

Held in conjunction with the Twelfth Annual Florida Square Dance Convention, the callers' meeting was held Saturday afternoon. Dancing in Curtis Hixon Convention Hall never stopped, however.

Ed Newton of Sarasota, president of FCA, said the 1965 convention appeared to be successful. "Matt Bryan and his committees have done a good job," he said. "From a standpoint of advertising and publicity this has probably been the best convention ever." He complimented Colin Walton on his achievements in tying in the house sound system at the Tampa convention hall.

He said he was appointing Joe Johnson of Windermere as coordinator for the 1966 convention in Orlando, asked Johnson for the educational committee report. No progress on state legislation to make school facilities available for square dancing could be reported, but the value of the association's library of tapes and literature to beginning callers was emphasized.

The organization wrestled with procedures for granting active membership for probationary members, ordered a surety bond for the treasurer and president, named George

Four Hour Clinic
By Manning Smiths
Is First of Series

A PROFESSIONAL ATTITUDE toward their field is necessary if round dance leaders are to adequately point toward the long-range future, Manning Smith told members of the Round Dance Council of Florida at a first-of-its-kind clinic held in Clearwater Auditorium Sunday afternoon, February 14.

Smith and his wife, Nita, famous for Mannita Waltz, also participated in the Suncoast Squar-arama in Tampa's Hixon Hall Saturday afternoon, by teaching Windsor's new "Affection" and thrilling the intermission audience with their interpretation of "Lady of Spain."

The four-hour clinic was designed to provide tips on improvement in technique of teaching round dances, and the first half was an informal lecture session. Smith pointed out that he and his wife had physical education background and have approached square dancing and round dancing as a part of the "total recreation program."

"What are you doing to meet the challenges of 25 years from now?"

He declared that many round dance instructors "break down in the area of public relations," and described this as "inability to accept a professional attitude" toward the work.

Smith suggested that square and round dancing have progressed "in spite of us" because it is "a folk activity".

Hoyt to succeed Al Hixon as central Florida director, and Walter Knight of Jacksonville as Northeast director to succeed Hoyt. Dr. Hixon has taken his family to Turkey for a year of teaching under a Fulbright fellowship, it was reported.

The recently issued dancers directory folder has been placed in distribution at Florida's border welcome stations, Newton said, and additional supplies will be mailed to each member of the association.

A proposal for the state association's funds to be used to subsidize area callers groups was referred to committee for study.

The organization will hold its annual business meeting on Sunday, Oct. 24, in Orlando.

The Velvet Glove

"EVERYONE who has seen it likes the music. The dance is not difficult and is just different enough to be interesting," comment Francis and Verne Junkin about this month's Round of the Month.

Chosen May 23 at the Ramada Inn, Lakeland, "The Velvet Glove" is number one on the Round Dancer list of the top ten dances. Two other dances were taught: "Sly Old Two Step" and a classic, "Bubbles in the Wine".

Ben and Vivian Highburger composed "The Velvet Glove", and it is recorded by Decca, label 25642.

Michigan Couple Booked Nov. 14 By Round Dancers

CLIFF AND RAY Hendrix of National City, Mich., will present a one-day program of interest to round dance instructors in the Community House in Kissimmee on Sunday, Nov. 14, and Pete and Ann Peterman of Fort Worth will be scheduled for a one- or two-day institute at a Central Florida location on the weekend of Sunday, March 13, it was reported to members of the Round Dance Council of Florida in Tampa, June 19.

The quarterly workshop meetings are designed to be of help to teachers and leaders in the round dance field, according to Russ Ayrtton, president of the group. "We are not just going to teach dances; we want to learn techniques." He made it plain that this approach would characterize the fall session formerly billed as the "Holiday for Rounds," which will now be open to round dance teachers, leaders, and interested square dance callers by invitation.

The council heard of plans for organization of a round dance activity planned by Harold Eicher for the Sarasota area. Fourth Sunday sessions start on June 27 with Council members as a board of directors and serving as instructors.

Procedures followed in selection of the Round of the Month were outlined. Teachers may present dances at the fourth Sunday sessions.

Citrusland SquareUp Is July 4th Challenge

THREE YEARS AGO the Citrusland Square-Up was launched to give dancers a challenge level program over the Independence Day weekend. That it has succeeded is shown by increased registrations each year.
